Julie and Chuck,

Hevis trained with me for two hours yesterday and expressed an interest in a moot court challenge. I volunteered a while back at a staff meeting to produce a review of court procedure, in anticipation of a moot court for new chemists, prior to their going to actual court. I passed a copy of this material to Hevis and have attached a copy for your use.

If we may anticipate a moot court for Hevis, I would be pleased to organize it and get the auditorium to simulate to a degree the atmosphere of court. I know the other chemists would enjoy the role playing and we could script a general approach in an hour.

I don't know if you think she is ready for this yet Chuck, but if we get chemist volunteers for particular roles, we could outline a credible script in an hour and have a nicely simulated event for her when she's ready. Thoughts?

Mike
